Level 2 Certificate in
Principles of Working with Individuals with Learning Disabilities

Course overview

There are an estimated 1.5 million people living with a learning disability in the UK. The effects on individuals can vary widely and affect people of every age and background. Each individual with a learning disability is entitled to receive personalised and lifelong support provided by health and social care organisations and a network of carers.

This qualification will provide learners with a comprehensive understanding of issues surrounding different types of learning disabilities and how these affect individuals in their daily lives, including safeguarding, positive risk taking and an awareness of the autistic spectrum.

Level 2 Certificate in
Principles of Working with Individuals with Learning Disabilities

Who is suitable?

This qualification is suited to anyone currently working, or looking to work, with individuals who have any form of learning disability in order to enhance their knowledge and understanding of personalised care in this context.

Learning method

Studying via distance learning means you can choose when and where you study.

This course is available:

online

no exams just assessments

What you will learn

This course is split into six manageable units:

Unit 1: Understand the context of supporting individuals with learning disabilities

Unit 2: Principles of safeguarding and protection in health and social care

Unit 3: Introduction to personalisation in social care

Unit 4: Principles of positive risk taking for individuals with disabilities

Unit 5: Introductory awareness of autistic spectrum conditions

Unit 6: Principles of supporting individuals with a learning disability to access healthcare.

Benefits

- Gain a nationally recognised qualification
- Create a long-standing career pathway within the health and social care industry
- Courses are delivered as distance learning, allowing learners to choose when and where to study
- Personal tutors are assigned to ensure learners have the support needed to succeed.

OnlineCourses@croydon.ac.uk

Croydon College